PERSPECTIVES IN BIOLOGY AND MEDICINE

VOLUME V · CONTENTS

1	H. J. Muller	Genetic Nucleic Acid: Key Material in the Origin of Life
24	Esmond R. Long	A Pathologist's Recollections of the Treatment, Investigation, and Control of Tuberculosis
52	Everett W. Bovard	A Concept of Hypothalamic Functioning
61	Dickinson W. Richards	The First Aphorism of Hippocrates
65	Dwight J. Ingle	Testing Claims to Knowledge in Biology and Medicine
86	H. S. Anker	On the Geogenous Evolution of Self-reproducing Systems and Macromolecules
89	Alvan G. Foraker	Minutes of the Research Conference
92	Paul Tillich	The Meaning of Health
101	Macdonald Critchley	The Everlasting "No"; the Everlasting "Yea"
122	Melville J. Herskovits	Rear-Guard Action
129		Statement on Race and Intelligence from The Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues
130		Letters to and from the Editor
145		Editorial: To Support Research
147	Melvin Calvin	Evolution of Photosynthetic Mechanisms
173	Albert Szent-Györgyi	On Scientific Creativity
179	Georg Kahlson	New Approaches to the Physiology of Histamine
198	Jonas E. Salk	Biological Basis of Disease and Behavior
207	Carl F. Schmidt	Pharmacology and Cardiovascular Reflexes
220	P. B. Medawar	D'Arcy Thompson and Growth and Form
233	Hans Selye	Calciphylaxis and the Concept of "Vital Mordanting"
244	Max Tishler	The Debt of Discovery to Learning
256		Book Reviews

259		Letters to the Editor
267		Editorial: What Are the Biological Bases of Responsibility?
269	Lord Adrian	Creativity in Science
275	I. Bradley Gordon and Louis N. Katz	Hypoxia and the Pulmonary Vasculature
293	Stephen Thesleff	A Neurophysiological Speculation concerning Learning
296	Fernando Ramon Ferrando	Information, Entropy, and Nervous System
308	Mindel C. Sheps	Problems in Clinical Evaluation of Drug Therapy
324	Fritz Lipmann	Disproportions Created by the Exponential Growth of Knowledge
327	Alfred Gottschalk	The Relation between Structure and Function in Some Glycoproteins
338	H. Burr Steinbach	The Prevalence of K
356	Dwight J. Ingle	The Uses of Efficiency in Science and Education
364	Carl A. Dragstedt	Who Killed Cock Robin?
377		Book Reviews
382		Letters to and from the Editor
397		Editorial: Individual Differences
399	Melvin Calvin	The Origin of Life on Earth and Elsewhere
423	Jonas E. Salk	Biology in the Future
432	Eugene D. Weinberg	Trace-Metal Control of Specific Biosynthetic Processes
446	N. W. Pirie	Principles of Classification Illustrated by the Problem of Virus Classification
473	W. Horsley Gantt	Factors Involved in the Development of Pathological Behavior: Schizokinesis and Autokinesis
483	Adolf Grünbaum	Science and Man
503	M. C. Shelesnyak	Decidualization: The Decidua and the Deciduoma
519	John Romano	Comparative Observations in the Teaching of Psychiatry to Undergraduate Medical Students
527	Vasily Parin	Capacities of the Human Organism: Defense Mechanisms and Adaptations in Conditions of Maximum Overload and the State of Weightlessness
534		Book Reviews